

The Wonders of California

In my opinion, the Gold Rush made California wonderful. This is one of the many wonders of California. Here are the reasons why the Gold Rush was wonderful for California.

First, the Gold Rush sparked a revolution when it happened in the Sacramento Valley in 1848. The Gold Rush happened because someone found gold at Sutter's Creek in Coloma. Then gold was on the headline in the news. This caused many people to travel to San Francisco. People from different places around the globe came to mine for gold. Everybody wanted it because it was the currency at the camp. So, going to California for gold made the population of San Francisco increase drastically. From there, people flocked to the Sacramento Valley.

Second, during the Gold Rush, many people used lots of tools and different kinds of machines. For example, there was a pan that filtered out the dirt from the gold. Then, some people wore jeans that were invented just for the miners. The jeans did not break easily like some other types of clothing.

Third, the gold impacted many people. Everyone wanted gold so they did dangerous things. Many people fought for the gold. Some people robbed miners of their gold. The miners even exploded dynamite to find gold which was a very dangerous thing to do.

Fourth, the Gold Rush made a difference in the world. When people bombed the sites to get gold, this caused air pollution to our environment. Next the price of gold dropped drastically when the economy rose. Some people went from poverty to riches.

The result of finding gold during the gold rush was a wild frenzy when gold was deposited at the bank. At that time, gold was very valuable---even now.

Last, the gold rush was a big win for California. It motivated people to rush to the Sacramento valley, Many kinds of tools were made to mine the gold. When miners found gold, they became very rich. These were the good result of the gold rush that made California wonderful.
